Holiday Leftovers

FOR LESS

No firm that carries as large a holiday line as we, expects to have it completely exhausted, and while out fine assortment and low prices resulted in the largest holiday trade in the history of the store, still the demand ran pretty evenly in most lines, so that we still have a good assortment to choose from.

There are several very good reasons why we do not want to carry this stock over until next year, and so have determined to sacrifice it now:

- 1st. There is a decided advantage in having an entirely new stock each year.
- 2nd. We never sell old goods at the price of new.
- 3rd. We don't want to invoice all the goods left over.
- 4th. We haven't room to store them all if we wanted to.
- 5th. We prefer to sell them at a sacrifice and have the use of the money.

Accordingly every item that can be classed as holiday goods will be sold at cost.

"Here's a whole line of type all mixed up so's youse kant read it."
"Dat ain't mixed up. Dat's a Russian general's name."

Charles Sweeney of Spokane, candidate for republican United States senator, has declared in favor of President Roosevelt's plan for government control of railroads.

The 9-year-old son of S. H. Hoppen, of Emmett, Idaho, was instantly killed Monday by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of a smaller brother.

KANSAS SENATOR IS AN OUTCAST

BURTON ADMITS THAT HIS LIFE IS RUINED.

Since the indictment was issued against him he has never entered the Senate Chamber—Once He Was Respected and Gave Promise of Being a Power in His State—No Longer in Good Repute.

In concluding an impassioned speech to a religious assemblage four years ago in a Kansas town, J. Ralph Burton, then an aspirant for senatorial honors, declared:

"The richest legacy man can leave to man is the memory of an honored name and the inheritance of a good example."

Today the author of these noble sentiments walks the streets of Washington discredited and friendless. Since he was branded by a federal jury at St. Louis less than a year ago as a bribe-taker he has grown morose and deponent.

To an intimate friend he remarked the other day that regardless of whether he served a term in the federal penitentiary in explanation of the charge made against him, or whether he was acquitted later on of charge of accepting bribes, he could never efface the stigma placed upon his name and reputation.

"I am a ruined man," he said in a trembling voice, "my friends have deserted me and I am virtually an outcast."

When the senator gave utterance to these expressions he doubtless recalled his admonition to his constituents in Kansas to live honorable lives. To be friendless is a dreadful thing, but to have once held a high position and to have been the idol of a million and a half constituents who were ever ready to dance attendance upon his every wish, and then to be suddenly stripped of influence, power, adulation, confidence and respect and to be shunned by those who formerly courted him is a more dreadful condition.

Pity has supplanted and taken the place of respect, and this is the most mortifying and humiliating phase of the case to the principal.

The impression is general in all circles that the supreme court of the United States will grant Senator Burton a new trial. This action of the court will be based upon the contention that the evidence did not warrant conviction, but because of legal technicalities which occurred during the trial.

Since the indictment was returned against him more than a year ago, J. Ralph Burton has never entered the senate chamber and has never attempted to exercise his privileges as a senator from the state of Kansas.

He might have attempted to have represented his constituents on the floor had it not been for a remark made by the venerable Senator George Hoar of Massachusetts, that it would not be proper for a man with so serious a charge pending against him to enter the senate chamber and participate in the enactment of laws for the government of the people of the country.

It is expected that a decision will be handed down by the supreme court when it reconvenes on March 4th in this now celebrated case.

MILLIONS OF RATTLES.

Cave Filled With Snakes Will Cause
Legislative Action.

W. G. Curtis, who was a member of the last Wyoming legislature, vouches for the truth of the statement that there is on the Hubbard ranch, in the Torrington district, a mammoth snake den the like of which probably does not exist anywhere else on earth, says a Cheyenne dispatch.

The den is in the form of a small cave and this is used by the rattlers as winter quarters. Each fall rattlers are discovered coming from all directions, returning from their summer "grazing grounds" to their winter rendezvous in the cave. The ranchmen in the vicinity of the den are greatly annoyed by the reptiles, as they are disturbing to a sense of personal security. The snakes, after spending the winter in the cave, migrate in the spring in all directions.

In the winter visitors to the den have seen great tangled masses of rattlesnakes who coil around each other for warmth. It is estimated that in this one den, one of the largest in the states, there are thousands of rattlers every winter. Some idea of the number can be gained from the fact that several hunts have been held without materially diminishing the number, and the hunters desisted only when they were worn out with their work.

Mr. Hubbard is planning to exterminate the rattlers which rendezvous at the big den, and will use dynamite. When the rattlesnakes have congregated for the winter, it is supposed to place several shots in the den and fire them off, thus not only killing the reptiles, but destroying the cave.

In addition to the Rawhide den, there are several other large dens of snakes in Laramie county, notably in the hills near the mouth of Horse creek. If the efforts of Hubbard to get rid of the snakes at the Rawhide den are successful, the same method will be adopted in the others.

REVIVAL OF "RUSTLING."

Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska Infested With Thieves Galore.

Cattle stealing in northwestern Kansas has become so general that the ranchmen have notified United States Marshal W. H. Mackey, Jr., that they want a deputy marshal and a United States commissioner appointed for the three or four counties which are infested with thieves, says the Kansas City Star. The information which reached the marshal's office is to the effect that the ranchmen are circulating petitions in Cheyenne, Rawlins, Sherman and Thomas counties calling upon the marshal to appoint the deputy and commissioner. Marshal Mackey has been asked to appoint as his deputy marshal for these counties George Tillet of Atwood, and as commissioner, John H. Chambers of Atwood.

The failure of the county officers in some of the counties in which the petitions are in circulation to perform their duties as energetically as the cattle men would like, is given as one of the reasons why the federal officers are needed. Another reason is the thorough organization of the cattle "rustlers." The thieves are operating in Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado and their work is so systematic that the officers cannot secure the necessary evidence to convict them. It is believed that the appointment of a deputy marshal and a United States commissioner would make it possible to at least drive the thieves into Nebraska and Colorado, where the officers of those states could handle them. From the evidence obtainable the thieves have their headquarters near Atwood.

Herbert S. Bigelow.

Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, of Cincinnati, is one of the foremost reform preachers in the world, and has done more to bring order out of the religious chaos in the large cities of Ohio, than any other man, excepting Tom Johnson or "Golden Rule" Jones.

Bigelow is not a fanatic, but a fearless Christian thinker, who does not hesitate to attack false religious notions as fearlessly as Tom Johnson attacks false political doctrines.

Bigelow is the regular pastor of the Vine Street Reform church, in Cincinnati, but lectures and speaks all over the United States, besides furnishing a weekly letter on live religious and economic topics to a large number of independent papers throughout the United States.

The East Oregonian is pleased to announce that it will be able to furnish this weekly letter to its readers hereafter. While these letters are not fanatical, they offer some practical and Christian solutions for existing wrongs in society and government and will be an interesting feature.

WORMS

"I had for years suffered from what medical men called Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach. In August I purchased a box of Cascarets and was surprised to find that I 'had 'em'—yes—a disgusting squirming mass left me. Judge my doctor's surprise when I showed him thirty feet, and in another day the remainder about the same length of a tape-worm that had been sapring my vitality for years. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. I trust this testimonial will appeal to other sufferers."—Chas. Blackstock, 215 Trinity Place, West Philadelphia, Pa.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
